Viedoc — meeting the stringent data security requirements of all clinical trials. Manage the data collection of your trial documents with ease and knowledge that your data is secure.

At Viedoc, we understand that the success of your trial is highly dependent on a combination of many factors. An important one of which is data security. Using Viedoc, you can be confident that your data is secure, and your participants' privacy is protected.

Certification is dependability

Requiring accreditation of vendors is an increasing trend in a world where new threats to data security appear on an almost daily basis. The ISO/IEC 27001 certification assures clients of confidentiality, integrity and availability of their data. Viedoc is one of a few in the industry to fully meet this requirement. It also requires Viedoc to continually monitor and improve its security processes to keep up with the ever-increasing demands of the changing world.

ISO/IEC 27001 is probably the most well-recognized international standard for managing information security. Certification represents meeting all the best practices for an information security management system. Using this collection of standards continuously helps our organization manage the security of all assets including everything from financial information, intellectual property, patient data, employee details, or information entrusted to us by third parties — such as websites and other customers or partners.

We at Viedoc constantly challenge ourselves to improve our services and we continually strive to provide the highest security standards to always meet or exceed our customers' needs and expectations. The ISO/IEC 27001 certification proves it.
